Attachments:

Please attach the following documents:

- A detailed résumé or CV that emphasizes relevant professional experience
- Relevant work samples and/or supporting materials that will help OSI evaluate the quality and impact of your past work. These may include your publications, links to your videos or blog posts, and reviews or media coverage of your work.

Applicants are strongly encouraged to submit only electronic supporting materials. However, if hard copy materials are essential to the evaluation of their project, you can list these at the end of the project proposal. Fellowship staff will reach out to applicants should it be necessary to review these materials.

- Executive Summary

Please attach a precis of your proposal, summarizing your key argument and what is new about it. It should not be longer than 1 page. You can copy and paste appropriate sections from the full proposal but since some reviewers will only see this summary before deciding to read the full proposal, it should present the ideas in a coherent manner

- The Project Proposal

Please submit a Project Proposal of no more than 3,500 words, using the following guidelines as your section headings. You may submit the project budget as a separate sheet.

- A clear detailed description of the Project, including particular outputs or products the Project will generate, any arguments and ideas the Project will put forth, and the need for the Project;
- An explanation of how the Project builds on existing efforts or charts new terrain;
- A description of the Project’s expected impact and how you might measure it;
- A detailed account of how you will achieve your goals, including a communications and/or outreach strategy. Please describe the specific audiences you hope to reach, your reasons for focusing on them, and how you intend to influence them;
- The reasons you are especially suited to carry out this Project;
- A description of how you expect the Project to fit into your career trajectory and future work;
- A Project timeline;
- An explanation of how you might engage with OSI while resident in our office(s). Please specify how these interactions could add value both to OSI and to your Project;
- Estimated fellowship expenses (in US Dollars) including travel and hotels, research assistance, conference fees, health insurance, etc. Please do not include living stipend or operational and programmatic costs (e.g. employees or physical infrastructure);
- Any other relevant information about the Project.

I certify that the information given in this application is complete and accurate.
